Gators Rally For State--U. of C. Game

Proving that professors are really human, this faculty quintet, composed of Mr. Harold Hollingsworth, Mr. Roy Freeburg, Dean John Butler, Dr. Somerville Thomson, and Dr. William Knuth, laughingly pose with the costumes that they will wear in the Pan-American League Musical Show on December 5.

Alpha Omega Will Decorate Trees For Hospital Vets

Home will be brought a little closer this Christmas for the wounded veterans of Letterman Hospital when their wards will again be brightened by holiday trees and gifts.

Alpha Omega, service sorority, is in charge of the collection and assembling of articles needed to decorate the bedside tables of the hospitalized men.

Boxes are in the halls and all students are asked to fill them with small, compact gifts that will be attached to miniature trees along with gay ornaments and tinsel. Unwrapped articles, such as combs, shaving soap, wash cloths, razor blades, pencils, and any other items small enough to be hung on the trees should be placed in the Christmas boxes as soon as possible.

Student Lounge To Open On Full Time Schedule

After a year of sheltering assorted spiders, cold germs, and leprechauns, the student lounge will soon be open on a full time schedule thanks to the machinations of the Club Advisory Council.

Hollingsworth To Sing In Messiah

Mr. Harold Hollingsworth, State instructor of voice, will be one of the guest soloists next Sunday in the annual presentation of the Christmas Messiah at the Oakland Auditorium theatre. There will be an afternoon and an evening performance of the work, and Mr. Hollingsworth will be featured in the afternoon performance. Mr. Hollingsworth has been at State for a year, and is a graduate of Columbia, as well as having studied at the Juilliard School of Music.

The following clubs have agreed to sponsor the lounge: Monday—I.R.C.

Tuesday—Phi Lambda Chi

Wednesday—Gamma Sigma Pi

Thursday—W.A.A., Pan American League, Kappa Delta Tau, Phi Epsilon Gamma

Friday—Beta Pi Sigma

Each club will have a member present at each hour to see that there is no smoking or gambling. Clubs will provide recreation facilities for the day that it sponsors the lounge.

The Women's Physical Educational Department offered a regulation ping-pong table to be put in the lounge. Games, phonograph records, etc., will be provided by each club.

"We hope to make the student lounge a place where students can go for recreation and relaxation," stated Doris Hoffman, I.R.C. president. She further remarked: "We are certain that the lounge will be successful if each club takes its responsibility seriously."

Seniors Study For U. S. History Exam

In anticipation of the forthcoming examination in United States history, senior students are at work reviewing past events in American history. An outline including material to be covered in the test, and a list of seven reference books has been given to all those graduating this term.

The examination is scheduled for December 11, from 2:30 to 4 p.m., in Annex 8. Any student wishing additional information on the test can consult Dr. Floyd Cave during his office hours in Room 205-D.

Beat Cal to be Theme of Two Pre-Game Rallies

GOING TO CAL GAME? HERE'S HOW YOU GO

"Goin' to the Cal game?"

"Of course."

"How, the heck, are ya' goin'?"

"Dunno."

Well, we do. The majority of the State student's are going to make the pilgrimage to the Cal campus in a body. They are going to meet at the East Bay Terminal at 7:00 o'clock and entrain en masse for the Cal gym.

To those who are unable to be at the East Bay Terminal at that time, we say...take an "F" train at the terminal, alighting at Bancroft Way. Go east for two blocks...and you're there. Simple, huh?

But, if you can make it for the en masse movement at 7:00 post meridian, do it.

Bond Drive Fails To Reach Quota

Bond sales at State did not reach the quota set, Alpha Omega, sponsors of the Victory Bond drive at State, announced this week at the close of the drive. Only eight bonds, totaling $575 maturity value, were bought by State.

"We didn't do as well as we had hoped for," said President Jean Cantwell, "but we do appreciate the efforts and co-operation of those who did participate in the drive."

A bond of $200 value, the largest bought during the drive at State, was purchased by Miss Florence Vance, the registrar.

Sign Up in Music Alley For Symphony Concerts

Friday afternoon symphony concerts may sign up on the sheets in the Music Alley that will be put up each Monday morning.

There are going to be two rallies here at State within the next twenty-four hours. The theme?...of course...BEAT CAL!

But, according to those plans made public by activities commissioner, Ed Doty, both of these rallies will be more than just rallies. Miniature floor shows will be put on.

The first rally will be held this evening at 7:30 in the rally bowl, below Anderson Hall. Sometime today, before noon, in fact, mimeographed sheets containing all of State's yells, songs, and a complete roster of the Gators basketball squad will be placed in each Post Office box. Take these with you to tonight's rally.

First Big Rally

This rally will be the first big post-war activity of this nature, and it is expected that spirit will run very high on the State campus during and following the rally.

Although a complete program has not been announced as yet, Doty has mentioned the "Three Gates," June Christiansen, and a dance band, as a part of tonight's show.

Tuesday's rally will be held in the women's gym at noon. In addition to the entertainment being planned, Dan Farmer is going to introduce each member of the basketball squad. Bob Martens' new song will make its official debut at the Tuesday rally, also. Again, Doty has not announced the entire program, other than to say, "that it is going to be very good, and quite unlike our previous rallies this year."

BIB 'N TUCKER

Bib 'n Tuckers will sponsor a booth at the Carnival dance to be held on December 14th. Some time in January is the tentative date of their own dance. They are also participating in Red Cross work this semester.

President J. Paul Leonard is shown entertaining Dr. Wilson of Harvard at a faculty luncheon held at State recently. Seated next to Dr. Leonard is Dean Walter J. Homan.

Editorial*SOCIAL PARADE TO GET UNDER WAY

Each year about this time the annual parade of State social events begins to get under way, and with it come the inevitable social conflicts. Students will find that a series of parties, dances, dinners and big games will all occur within a short time of one another. We warn the students, first, that a strain will be placed on their pocket-books at a particularly inconvenient time, just after Christmas and just before the spring registration.

True enough, this period of intense activity is a good part of the enjoyment of college life, but on the other hand, its existence involves certain disadvantages. The concentration of social events is definitely detrimental to the student's study habits. Moreover, the period occurs during the most crucial part of the term, just preceding and even during finals. The student is naturally reluctant to miss these affairs deliberately, and if he does miss them he is actually not taking full advantage of the social opportunities provided by college.

The logical conclusion is, that the student must begin his final burst of studying now, in order that he may be well up in his work when the socials get under way. Less time must be devoted to some aspect of his routine during this period, and we suggest that the leisure time that the student usually devotes to bull sessions and general loafing in the co-op is certainly less indispensable than the time necessary for adequate study and rest.

Peace has come to America. The war of greed and hate has ended and all over the globe men are asking, "Is another war inevitable?" It is a question which can be answered as the people of the world and America wish it to be answered.

Peace has come to America and for the past few weeks the housewives of San Francisco have been standing in "breadlines" hoping to secure a loaf of bread for their families. Truck drivers refuse to deliver bread to San Francisco grocery stores unless higher wages are to be paid and employers refuse to produce the extra few cents an hour. No agreement can be reached and San Francisco goes without bread.

Young children go without milk because no agreement can be reached at the carton manufacturers and there are no containers for the milk which is being produced. Returning servicemen, veterans of horrible conflict on foreign shores, must wait until employers and workers can agree to re-open factories and business establishments before beginning work as civilians. The significance of the strike lies in the revealing fact that no agreement can be reached and strikes continue to flourish.

Peace has come to America and simultaneously policemen are sent two abreast in certain San Francisco districts to prevent rioting between Negro and white Americans. The majority of Chinese-Americans are restricted to certain districts of the city and are forced to compose a portion of San Francisco's slum district. The application for civil service employment contains the question, "Race?" The farm of a Japanese-American farmer, recently returned from an evacuation center, was burned to the ground and three young American men stood trial for the crime.

Employers and workers cannot agree, race riots call for an increased police force, and divorce and jealousy wreck the American family. Is war inevitable?—the answer is up to the individual components of this nation and of the world. When each individual forgets his own selfish desires and endeavors to co-operate with his neighbor, then the question may be answered optimistically.

Bik's Faculty

By HY BIK

It will generally be agreed that about the most annoying element on campus is the faculty. Colleges are for young people, and the presence of a large group of older people is, to say the least, disconcerting. It is apparent that if the faculty insists upon hanging the students in each of their around, it is going to have to take classes. Tests are entirely unsteps to make itself more bearable to the students.

Another thing. Faculty member should offer ten minutes lowness when they use their of private instruction to each class rooms to show off in. App-pupil daily. During lectures he parently, they do not realize that should, from time to time, step their students are constantly un-on some student's toe, pull under an emotional strain of one other's hair, throw lighted match- sort or another, and cannot put es into the audience, and swear up with such foolishness. All at the whole group when the bell right, so I've got a suit, too. But rings. This will start the students you don't see me wearing it every saying, "He's a swell teacher, but single day.

By LOU RUBIN

Last Friday night the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra opened its thirty-fourth season, the eleventh consecutive one under the direction of Pierre Monteux. With the exception of a few returned service men, the membership at this year's opening was the same as it has been for the past few seasons. One finds each year at the opening that all the Strauss epic, "A Hero's Life." One of the sharpest, most biting musical reviews of all time is this of a midwestern newspaper critic, in describing a recital: 'The Quartet played Brahms—Brahms lost.'

The philosophy of a pessimist: Man comes into this world without his consent, and leaves it against his will. When he is little big girls kiss him, and when he is big the little girls kiss him. If he is active in politics, it is for graft; if he is not interested in politics, he is no good to his country. If he makes a lot of money, he is dishonest; if he is poor, he is a bad manager. If he is religious he is a hypocrite; if he doesn't go to a temple, he is a hardened sinner. If he gives to charity, it is for show; if he doesn't care for anyone he is cold-hearted. If he dies young, he had a great future before him; if he lives to be a ripe old age, he missed his calling. If he saves money, he is a tightwad; if he spends it, he is a spendthrift. If he has money, he is a graftor; if he hasn't got it, he's a bum. So, what's the use?

His father queried, "Well, son, kept after school again?"

SPORT DOPE By SCOTT HOPE

BEAT CAL!!!

Tuesday night the snapping Gators of State will go after the bushy tails of the Bears of the University of California. Although pregame dope will rate the Gators as under-dogs, this scribe is going to go out on a limb and predict that the Gators will dood it and knock off the Golden Bear. Reason? . . . speed! The Bears have never been a fast team, and from the one glimpse I have had of them this year, this squad is no exception. A slow team is a sucker for the last break. Cal is slow. State has a fast break. So-o-o putting two and three together, State's gotta win. It'll be a helluva lot easier for us though, if we pack that Cal gym to the rafters. WITH STATE STUDENTS. Let's go!

INDOOR SPORTS CARNIVAL

Along about the middle of January—the 15th, 16th, or 17th—the woman's gym will be the scene of an indoor sports carnival. In the past this show has been one of the best affairs of each term. The program will include tumbling, boxing and wrestling bouts, fencing, apparatus gymnastics, jitterbugging, short skits, etc. And it is all done to music. The main problem now is getting talent for this show. We know that there are a good many students here who are talented in some field or other of entertainment. If you are one of these, don't keep it to yourself! Go and see Hal Harden at the men's PE department, or, if faculty members make you bashful, come and see me.

AD TRIVIA

With nothing better to do on Thanksgiving, your scribe and his pater wandered out to Kezar to watch St. Ignatius and Poly knock each other out in the finals of San Francisco's predom gridiron race. Having gone, I now wonder why people pay all that money to go and watch Cal or any of the other colleges play. Those pretenders played good, hard, and precise football. They were inspired by enthusiastic and well organized student bodies. Incidentally, Poly did not win. If I were to pick out any players who were more outstanding than their cohorts I would cite the two centers, Jim Canelo of SI and Earl Rogers of Poly; backs, Duke Marlowe of Poly and Gordon M'Laghlan of SI; and, although taken out early in the second half with a couple of cracked ribs, Poly's really fine halfback, Merrill Peacock.

IDLE PRATTLE

Dean David J. Cox has been confined to his bed with a severe cold . . . Hal Harden is back in harness . . . welcome back, Hal! . . . Hal Fox blossomed out, early last week, in a shirt that even outdoes Dick Wind's. Hal's shirt was worn on the same day as the fire drill. Could be some association, perhaps . . . Basketball players galore at the Wednesday night performance of "Late Chris Bean," and some actually did not have to come . . .

BOWL-ING

The selection of the Galloping (except against UCLA) Gaels to visit the mecca of southern hospitality, New Orleans, pleases almost everyone. That battle between Weidemeyer and Fenimore should be a honey . . . The battle to decide who will escape the wroth of Alabama will be waged in LA tomorrow. 'Tis my hunch that the Bruins and Trojans will try to outfumble each other for the honor of not facing the Crimson (bloody) Tide. Whoever has the misfortune to win this game is going to be slaughtered in Tournament of Roses (crimson).

GRIDIRON PROGNOSTICATIONS

Picking football games each week would be a fine business if UCLA and Mississippi State would revert to intra-mural games only. I have not picked either one of these teams correctly all year.

Total picked, 84; Correct, 67; Wrong, 17; Percentage, .797. Tomorrow: Alabama to romp over Miss State; Rice to knock over Baylor; Cal to upset St. Mary's Pre-flight; Clemson to end Wake Forest's Bowl aspirations; Georgia to wreck Tulane, but good; Virginia over North Carolina, but it will be close; Notre Dame to nip Great Lakes; Oregon to drop Oregon State; Southern Cal to clinch the Rose Bowl bid by toppling USLA (but don't bet on it); Southern Methodist to trip TCU, on a wing and a prayer; Tennessee should not have too much trouble with Vanderbilt; and last, but definitely not the least, Army's Davis and Blanchard will lead the Cadets to a smashing win over the star studded Navy squad; Poly to beat St. Ignatius (Hey! how'd that get in there?).

Gator J. V. Cagers Eink Navy, 53 to 17

After running up a quick 18-0 lead with virtually no opposition, the State junior varsity went on to sink the San Francisco Navy LBIC 53 to 17 Tuesday night. The Gators' effective fast break rolled up 24 points on the score board before the hapless sailors could sink their first field goal.

John Grantham, with 20 points, led the scoring parade, followed by Don Pagani with 15. Ken Keltner, reserve forward, scored seven for the Navy. State led at the half, 34 to 7.

State Quintet Readies For Cal Bears Crucial

A casaba drama in two acts will be enacted at the University of California gymnasium tomorrow night when the Alligators of State tangle with the Golden Bears of the U. of C.

On the only game from which a comparison can be drawn, the two teams are rated evenly. Both the Bears and the Gators rolled over the U.S.S. Rescue squad—Cal by a 53 to 17 margin and State scored a 56-38 victory. Both squads substituted freely throughout the game so it is actually difficult to make a comparison.

Coach Dan Farmer announced that his starting line-up would be taken from the following men: Mel Martin, forward; Grove Mohr, forward; Norb Ferreira, center; Don Ellis, center; Jack Byrne, guard; Hal Fox, guard; and Ed Dunn, guard. Of these seven men, five—Martin, Mohr, Ellis, Byrne, and Dunn—are ex-servicemen.

GATORS HAVE SPEED

There are several factors that will influence the outcome of the game. The Gators are faster. They have a strong defense, and, above all, there is a strong desire to upset the Bears. On the other side, the Bears have a veteran club. The game will be played on Cal's home court (incidentally, this is the first away-from-home game the Gators have played this year).

The Bears will floor a starting combination of Merv La Faile and Andy Wolfe at forward; Jim Smith at center, and, Bob Hogeboom and Jim Wray at guard. In games played thus far this season, Smith, Hogeboom, and Wolfe have topped the Bear scorers. Smith is over 4 feet 4 inch giant.

Game time will be eight o'clock. How to get there? . . . Proceed to the East Bay Terminal at First and Mission and board an "F" train. Get off at Bancroft Way and walk two blocks to the east. Trains depart every twenty minutes.

Roelling Crowned Football Champ

Elmer Roelling, varsity fullback, was crowned over-all champion at State's annual football olympics yesterday. Roelling walked off with first place awards in kick for distance, pass for distance, and pass accuracy, and also received the grand champion's ribbon.

Prize winners:

Kick for distance: Elm Roelling, Ralph Azavedo, George Albrecht, Stew Saunders.

Kick for accuracy: Ralph Azavedo, Bill Kennerley, Jack Byrne, Mel Martin.

Pass for distance: Roelling, Saunders, Albrecht, Walt Suggs.

Pass for accuracy: Roelling, Byrne, Saunders, Hal Fox.

Gator Quintet Trounces Cal Medics in Runaway 41-23

The 1945-46 edition of the San Francisco State basketball team made its official debut a successful one by trouncing the University of California Medical School, 41-23.

The Gators took the lead early in the game and at half time had built up a 18-9 margin. Mel Martin and Don Ellis led the attack in the opening half, ices jayvees a close 31 to 30 victory over the purple and gold baby gators in a thrill packed game.

The baby varsity came on like gang busters in the first half on consecutive buckets by Don Pagan, Ed Muray and John Grant ham, but bogged down in the second half when the "Docs" superior height controlled the backboard, spelling ruin and ultimate defeat to the junior casabateers.

Knuth Guest Conductor For Portland Festival

Dr. William E. Knuth, professor of music, left yesterday for Portland, Ore., where he will be guest conductor and consultant at the Northwest Band and Orchestra Festival Clinic November 30 and December 1.

Teachers from Oregon, Washington and Idaho will bring outstanding music students from the various high schools who will compose the clinic band and orchestra, which will be used for demonstration purpose on December 1 at a program open to the public. There will be about 125 students in both the band and the orchestra. Music publishers are cooperating with the organization by sending their most recent publications for band and orchestra to be reviewed and evaluated.

Speaks in Santa Rosa

Dr. Knuth spoke on present day problems of music in our public schools at the Teachers' Institute held recently at the Santa Rosa High School, and conducted a musical round table for the music section of the institute. Chairman of the affair, Chester Beck, is a graduate of State and is now head of the music department for Santa Rosa Junior College.

Problems that were discussed by Dr. Knuth included making more functional the music departments for the entire student body, to tie in the school music department for the entire community and P. T. A., and the need for musical assemblies.

"It seemed like old home week remarked Dr. Knuth, "as there were at least a dozen teachers present who were former students at State."

Ilma Teter, who played Mrs. Haggett, was easily the most vivacious member of the cast, her mobile expressions of face and body giving rise to many a gratuitous laugh. Though perhaps she was guilty of "hamming" the role, she added gusto to the play that could ill be lost.

Elena Polles interpreted vividly the upsypathetic role of Ada Haggett, frustrated daughter of the physician, playing up the comic aspects of her character. Arlie Fowlks gave a convincing performance of the sultry younger daughter Susan, in love with the village artist, Warren Creamer, played competently and robustly by Bill Ogburn.

Ed Murray was well adapted to his role of the cultivated art critic, Davenport, getting the most out of a relatively minor part. Charles Autry interpreted credibly the rascally art forger, Tallant, and John Morangé lent an air of distinction to the characterization of Rosen, the unscrupulous art dealer.

The set was attractively arranged by the stage and property crews, under the direction of Betty Petrakis. Paula Moffitt's interesting portrait of Abby created the desired illusion, without

Need for an expansive type of citizenship to build the world of tomorrow was the subject the Rev. Paul H. Moon discussed before the members of the Student Christian Association at their last meeting.

Marian Wagner, president of the S. C. A. invites all students to attend the associations meetings. Notices will be placed in the post office boxes announcing the next meeting of the group.

DELTA SIGMA

Delta Sigma will hold its second business meeting of the term on Sunday, December 2, at the home of Caroline Nahman.

Plans will be laid for many spring term activities, including the high school debate annually sponsored by Delta Sigma, said President Bob Lamberson.

Primarily a debating group, Delta Sigma also offers various social activities to its members. Pledge ship to the organization is invitational.

which some of the dramatic motivation would have been lost.

To Miss Carolyn Silverthorne goes the credit for excellent direction of the comedy. Her skill at integrating the various elements of the play into a smooth, adroit, and exciting performance demands commendation.

All in all, "The Late Christopher Bean" was a memorable event in College Theatre history.

President Dick Maclure Enlightens Freshman: Soph Strut December 7

"That poster ain't there merely to cover up the grease spots," shrieked Soph Class Prexy Dick Maclure, as he brutally grasped the quaking little freshman by the nape of the neck and shoved the bewildered one's face toward the green placard decorating the wall of the Co-op.

"Why doncha stop and read what it says? Ya wanna grow up to be illiterate or sumethin'?"

With those words, Maclure stood back, arms resolutely folded, and proceeded to quote the poster's message to the fearful freshman who only gaped at him with terror-filled eyes.

What's Doing In The Clubs

S. C. A.

Festivities will be reversed at the Music Fed turnabout party tonight when the girls will dress as boys and the boys will come as glamour gals. Games and dancing will be on the list of activities, and entertainment is being planned by Fed members which will include a male quartet. Prizes will be given for the best costumes. The party will be held in annex B9 from 7:30 to 11, and only Fed members and their guests are invited to attend.

Daring to raise his blinking eyes to Maclure's face, the meek little first classman hastily dropped his gaze to the floor again as the mighty class prexy continued.

"If you're smart you'll hand over your student body card and $1.75 for your bid right now," growled Maclure as he bit the hangnail from his left index finger.

A small murmur came from the trembling lips of the frightened freshman as he continued to stare at the pattern of the linoleum.

"What! No student body card!" screamed Maclure, "When will you freshmen wise up? O.K., hand over the dough."

With a self-satisfied smirk, the big sophomore class president strode away, counting out the $2.25 dug from the pockets of the lowly freshman, and muttering, "Huh! No student body card!"
